

Local Small Business Honored

Senator Lou Correa presents Small Businesses Making A Difference Award to Pamanita and Rodney Hopkins, owners of Darnell Technical Services, Inc.

Orange County SBDC clients, Rodney and Pamanita Hopkins, were recently honored by CA State Senator Lou Correa as business owners that are making a difference in their community. As the founders of Darnell Technical Services, Inc. (DTS), they have build their business on the principle of the "Golden Rule". DTS provides professional engineering consulting and staffing services within the architectural, engineering, and construction industries both for the private sector and for Federal, State, and local projects.

Both Rodney and Pamanita have very strong religious beliefs and live purpose driven lives. It is these values and dedication of helping others that is the foundation of DTS. For both their clients and their consultants, DTS is committed to creating situations where any relationship they develop can prosper and expand their boundaries in life.

Both Rodney and Pamanita are very active members of the Second Baptist Church and both have served in various different capacities. Rodney is also a member of the Santa Ana Black History Society.

If you ask Rodney what is the purpose of his life and DTS, he will tell you "It is all about helping others. The best compliment one can pay us is to think of us, whether that be as a referral, a kind word, or other gesture."

Rodney and Pamanita are truly giving individuals which they carryover to both their professional and personal lives. They are dedicated to improving the lives of others in their community through their involvement and faith based beliefs. Congratulations to you both!

DTS is located at 1912 N. Broadway, Suite 106, Santa Ana, CA 92706; phone number 714.285.0082.
